

Dear Bike Week event organiser

The sun is shining, the rain has abated, and your thoughts will be turning to the summer and, of course, Bike Week, and we're delighted that you can now register your event. Arrangements for public liability insurance have been finalised so events registered can be covered from now up to the end of June. The core dates for Bike Week events are 14th-22nd June

Thank you for all your hard work in supporting Bike Week. We're a bit later than usual in opening registration, but we're all set to go now, and on the website you'll find lots of resources, advice and information.

Every event you organise, from family rides through to events that celebrate cycling for leisure and pleasure, to the shops or work are welcome – Bike Week is all about celebrating bikes and the difference they make to people's everyday lives.

We have made arrangements to enable all those who book for the Bike Week workshop at the Cycle City Leeds event to get heavily discounted admission for the two days. For those just coming to the workshop there is free admission on Friday afternoon. Please contact Andre Curtis, chair@cyclenation.or.uk.

Thanks again for your commitment to Bike Week – it wouldn't be the great event it is without you.
